FALL KICK-OFF EVENT

Wednesday, Sept. 14, 2022

William Whipple Gallery, 10:00 a.m.

McFarland Library, Bellows Academic,
Southwest Minnesota State University, Marshall, MN

Keynote Speaker: Christy Suprenant Riley

*"Don't be afraid to dream big.
You never know where your path will lead you."*

Fall Session Classes Begin
Monday, September 19, 2022

We look forward to an exciting session with you!

Our speaker:

Christy Suprenant Riley

Christy grew up near Slayton on a small farm where both her parents helped her appreciate a hard work ethic and how to think outside the box. In 1990, she got a dream phone call that sent her to Washington, D.C. for what she thought would be a fun couple of years. She ended up working for the Speaker of the House and had opportunities of a lifetime. After fifteen years in the city, she moved back home. She built a new career and family, and has fun raising draft horses on the side—all still part of the dream.

MONDAY

Sundown at Sunrise

The author will lead a discussion around a story of love and murder, based on a true tale from the early 1900s. This addictive story winds through many twists before ending in a deadly rampage that results in one of the most notorious ax murders in American history. The course will include the author's research, writing, and publication process, along with details of what is fact and fiction, backgrounds of characters and more. Plus, planning for another book! The book, Sundown at Sunrise, is required and can be ordered at www.sundownatsunrise.com or checked out from most Minnesota libraries.

Instructor: Marty Seifert '95

Mondays, 9:00-11:00 a.m. (Hybrid)

Intersex Education 101

Explore what intersex is, and what it is not, along with clinical aspects of 40 or so variations of intersex. Discover a wide historical range of Western and Non-Western and Indigenous cultures, groups, and individual accounts and examples of intersex from ancient Greece and Rome to Native American lens. Discover how this information can in a practical way offer unique insight into the lives of people who are diagnosed with intersex and how you can support their resilience. According to the Harvard Medical School: Estimates of incidence range from more than 1 in 100 to less than 1 in 5,000 births, suggesting a prevalence between 66,000 and 3.3 million people in the United States. For comparison, Down syndrome occurs in 1 in 800 births. Source: hms.harvard.edu/magazine/lgbtq-health/body-self. Participants can purchase A Comprehensive Guide To Intersex, by Jay Kyle Petersen, foreword by Christina M. Laukaitis, MD, PhD, Jessica Kingsley Publishers, London, 2021. Available at Barnes & Noble and Amazon. Appropriate for a broad audience from teens to adults, professionals, faculty, students, parents, allies and more. Taught by Jay Kyle Petersen, MSW, and SMSU alumnus from Minnesota who was born intersex and has taught intersex training since 2015 including for Brown University School of Public Health, and the upcoming El Rio Health Clinic, Tucson, Arizona. His paintings are in permanent donated installation at the SMSU McFarland Library. He graduated in BA: Art from SMSU, 1991 and MSW from Arizona State University, 2001.

The United States in the 1930s

The class will focus on this critical decade of the 20th century when Americans faced the Great Depression and the growing threat of war around the world. The class will look at the dramatic change from 1920s prosperity to the sharp economic decline of the new decade; the impact of the Depression on people's lives and on American culture; the New Deal and the changing role of government; and the country's responses to an increasingly troubled world.

Instructor: Dr. Joan Gittens

Tuesdays, 11:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m. (Hybrid)

Hybrid delivery allows participants to choose to attend either in person or via Zoom.

Art at the Box Office

When you watch a movie, have you ever noticed a famous work of art woven in with the plot? Art at the Box Office showcases some of these artworks, their artists and their stories. What about movie-making techniques that capture your imagination as you view a show? Discover some tricks of the trade that are an art in themselves.

Instructor: Pat Hand '77/'96

Tuesdays, 2:00-4:00 p.m. (In Person)

WEDNESDAY

Morning Meditation

Meditation is a wonderful way to reduce stress, increase self-awareness, and gain a new perspective on the world around you, but many don't know where to start! Join us to begin your own journey of meditation exploration. Students will learn basic mindfulness practices that are easy to follow and be guided through different meditation styles. Meditations include movement, writing, loving kindness, gratitude, sound, and chakra. If everyday stresses are piling up, take this time for yourself to relax and energize - you deserve it!!

Instructor: Veronica Fischer '11

Wednesdays, 9:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m. (Zoom Only)

Two Great American Novels

Students will read, explore, discuss and experience The Great Gatsby by F. Scott Fitzgerald and Of Mice and Men by John Steinbeck. They will compare and contrast life during the Roaring 1920s with that of The Great Depression during the 1930s. Themes of both novels include The American Dream, friendship, love, power, classes in society and loneliness. Participants will need a copy of each novel and should read chapters 1-5 in The Great Gatsby before the first class meets.

This course will be an opportunity to interact with SMSU students for a shared learning experience. Students will lead half of class through group discussions and Professor Franson will wrap up the session with Q/A. Gold College students will be asked to avail themselves for one on one interview assignments during the course which are designed to help improve SMSU students' communication skills.

Instructor BC Franson

Wednesdays 2:00 – 4:00 p.m. (Hybrid)

THURSDAY

Scandinavian flat plane carving/Tool sharpening and maintenance

The first session will be a sharpening tutorial. Material for the tutorial will be available for purchase. The remaining sessions will be flat plane carving of various figures such as tomtte or nisse, dalla horse, etc. from cut out blanks of basswood, or linden, as Scandinavians call the wood. Cut outs will be available at nominal cost. Tools needed are a carving knife and a cut resistant safety glove. Band aids are optional.

Instructor: Don Fischer

Thursdays, 9:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m. (In Person)

Oh Yes You Can Paint

This is a great class for you to try painting for the first time or continue on your artistic journey. All brushes, paint and other equipment needed, except for the canvas, will be provided so you don't need to invest in painting equipment right away. Canvases will be available to purchase at the opening kick off and at the first class. The long time members are helpful, supportive and creative. The group also likes to laugh! You will do some practice painting to get the feel of holding a brush and complete one or more paintings. So bring yourself, a canvas, and a desire to give painting a try.

Instructor: Dale Hiland

Thursdays, 11:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m. (In Person)

My Favorite Lecture

If you want something different, this Study Group is for you! Each week, a different SMSU professor will share one of their 'favorite lectures.' This SMSU sampler will include topics from many different areas. There is something for everyone!

Ceramics

Enjoy the creativity of designing your own handmade clay artworks. Students have the opportunity to hand-build ceramic containers, plaques, sculptures and even beads. Using a potter's wheel to make bowls or other vessels is also an option (not required). Have fun getting your hands dirty!

Instructor: Pat Hand '77/'96

Thursdays, 2:00 – 4:00 p.m. (In Person)

From GI's to Gen Z – Generations in America

Baby Boomers. Millennials. Gen Z. Have you ever looked at someone older or younger and just shook your head because you didn't understand their view of the world or society? Do you want to better understand your children, grandchildren, neighbors and friends? We will discuss generational theory and also pop culture to understand what shapes generations in the US and around the world and help us to bridge the gap in work, social views, and relationships with the different generations. Come ready to learn about your own generation and the events that shaped it; and also share your stories of your life and interacting with others as we strive to learn how to build a culture that understands and appreciates the talents that each generation brings to the US and our world.

Instructor: Michael Kurowski
